

BIO Matthias Rumpf

Matthias Rumpf is a principal communications expert at the Directorate for Statistics at the ECB. He coordinates data communication for the directorate and manages an ESCB working group on the same topic. Before joining the ECB, he worked for 16 year at the OECD in various communication functions where he also developed and implemented software and tools to communicate data more effectively. He has a background in journalism, holds a master's degree in political science and lectured on evidence-based policy making at the Free University in Berlin.