

Laszlo Tetenyi

Banco de Portugal

Economics and Research Department

Av. Almirante Reis, 71-6th floor

1150-012 Lisbon, Portugal

Ph: +351 967 062 595

ltetenyi@bportugal.pt

web: laszlotetenyi.com

Education

New York University (U.S.A)

Ph.D. in Economics, 2014-2020

Institute for Advanced Studies, IHS & Vienna University of Technology (Austria)

M.Sc. in Economics, 2012-2014

Corvinus University of Budapest & Heller Farkas College for Advanced Studies (Hungary)

B.Sc. in Economic Analysis, 2009-2012

Professional experience

Banco de Portugal

Research Economist, Economics and Research Department, Public Finances and Structural Studies, September 2020 - present

New York University

Instructor, International Economics (BSc level), 2019

Research and Teaching Assistant, 2014-2020

Research interests

International Economics & Trade, Macroeconomics,

Working papers and Work in progress

“Agricultural Input Subsidies in General Equilibrium, (with Karol Mazur)

“Trade, Misallocation, and Capital Market Integration (submitted)

“Migration, Remittances and Brexit: European Labor Market Integration and Its Effects on Inequality and Convergence (with Pawel Langer)

“Regional Stabilization Through Factor Mobility and Government Intervention

Conference and Seminar Presentations

2021: CESifo Global Economy Area Conference, SED, EEA Summer, MKE, Queen’s University Belfast

2020: CompNet, UC3M, Bristol, CEU, Alicante

2019: TADC, CompNet, EGSC, ESWM

Awards and honors

Doctoral: MacCracken Fellowship

Master: Central Bank of Austria & First Year Excellence Scholarships

Undergraduate: Best Thesis in Economics, Best Graduate in Economic Analysis, Erasmus, Republic, Skala-Coop & Excellence Scholarships