Securities issues July 2017

14 September 2017

Today, Banco de Portugal publishes statistics, in Table A.25 of the Statistical Bulletin and in BPstat, on issues of debt securities and shares for July 2017.

In July 2017, net issues (gross issues minus redemptions) of securities by resident entities totalled €1.1 billion, almost entirely explained by net issues of debt securities (Chart 1).

By institutional sector, the financial sector was the most relevant, with net issues of securities amounting to €1.2 billion (Chart 2). Debt securities issued by banks attained their highest level since August 2012. In July, the general government was the single sector registering negative net issues to the amount of €0.5 billion.

The balance of securities issued by residents totalled €445.8 billion, which corresponds to an increase of €2.2 billion from the previous month (Chart 3). This development was due, in addition to the above-mentioned positive net issues, to the valuation of public debt securities. This valuation of public debt securities has more than offset the effect of negative net issues, with the balance of these securities reaching a new peak (€182.6 billion) (Chart 4).
