

STATISTICAL PRESS RELEASE

106|2017

Securities issues September 2017

9 November 2017

Today, Banco de Portugal publishes statistics, in Table A.25 of the Statistical Bulletin and in BPstat, on issues of debt securities and shares for September 2017.

In September 2017, net issues (gross issues minus redemptions) of securities by residents totaled €-1.9 billion, which is the first negative value in 2017. This was almost entirely explained by net issues of debt securities (Chart 1).

By institutional sector, the general government sector was the most notable, with net issues of securities amounting to €-1.4 billion (Chart 2), the highest negative value in the series since October 2016.

The outstanding amount of securities issued by residents was €452.7 billion, which corresponds to an increase of €4.5 billion from August 2017 (Chart 3). This increase was mainly due to the valuation of shares issued by non-financial corporations and public debt securities, which more than offset negative net issues. In September 2017, the outstanding amount of securities issued by non-financial corporations and the general government peaked in their respective time series (Chart 4).
