

What assets do households invest in?

Percentage of household holding assets

In Portugal, almost all households have deposits. The remaining financial assets are held by a small percentage of households.

Real estate is a very common asset in households' portfolio: about 75% of households own the main residence and about 30% own other property.

About 15% of households have a participation in an unlisted businesses in which they actively participate.

Source: ISFF 2017.

Note: Tradable financial assets include investment funds, listed shares and bonds or other market-debt securities.